NFL TRENDS, ODDS, INJURIES & WEATHER - WEEK 4

Thursday, October 1

Pittsburgh Steelers at Cleveland Browns

Line: Pittsburgh -2.5 | Total: 38.5

Last game: Pittsburgh beat Cincinnati 30-27, with Aaron Rodgers throwing three TD passes. Cleveland edged Carolina 21-18 for its second consecutive victory; Deshaun Watson has played considerably better during that two-game winning streak.

2025 meeting: Pittsburgh (-6.5) won their home game 23-9; Cleveland (+3.5) won at home 13-6.

Trends:

- Pitt is: 1-6 ATS last 7 Thursday games.
- 4-0 Under last 4 after an ATS win.
- 5-1 Over last 6 Thursday games.
- Cleve is: 4-0 Over last 4 Thursday games.
- 5-0 Under in Week 4.
- 4-1 Over last 5 Thursday games.
- 0-4 ATS last 4 in Week 4.

Brief analysis: The low total reflects the expected style. Cleveland's defensive front against Pittsburgh's protection is one of the critical matchups, while Pittsburgh's T.J. Watt faces a Cleveland offense that has found more stability with Deshaun Watson at quarterback.

Pittsburgh at Cleveland - Key Injuries: Steelers RB Rico Dowdle (toe) has not practiced since leaving Week 2 and missed Monday's walkthrough. Browns C Elgton Jenkins is dealing with a concussion, while G Teven Jenkins has a back injury.

Sunday, October 4 - London

Indianapolis Colts at Washington Commanders

9:30amET

Line: Indianapolis -3.5 | Total: 47.5.

Last game: Indianapolis lost 19-17 to Houston. Washington produced one of Week 3's notable upsets, beating Seattle 33-31 behind backup QB Marcus Mariota, who threw three TD passes without a turnover

2025: They did not meet in the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Indianapolis is 7-1 ATS in its last 8 October games.
- Colts are 0-4 ATS in their last 4 as a favorite.
- Over is 5-1 in Washington's last 6 Week 4 games.
- Over is 6-1 in Washington's last 4 overall.
- Over is 4-0 in Washington's last 4 as an underdog.
- Over is 13-5 in Indianapolis' last 18 Week 4 games.

Brief analysis: This is a neutral-site game at Tottenham Hotspur Stadium. Washington's quarterback situation is the obvious handicapping variable with Jayden Daniels injured. Indianapolis also enters with turnover concerns, while Washington has allowed only 55 rushing yards per game over its last two contests.

Key Injuries: The major situation is Washington QB Jayden Daniels, whose availability remains in question; Marcus Mariota played in his place in the 33-31 win over Seattle. LB Frankie Luvu (groin) is ? S Nick Cross is doubtful. G Sam Cosmi (concussion) is ? LB Leo Chenal (neck) is out for the season. Indy WR Alec Pierce (heel) is on the IR.

Sunday - 1:00 ET

Arizona Cardinals at New York Giants

Line: Arizona approximately -1 to -1.5 | Total: 44.5.

Last game: Arizona lost a 36-30 shootout at San Francisco. The Giants beat Tennessee 12-7.

2025: Arizona and New York did not meet during the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Arizona is 5-0 ATS in the last 5 meetings.
- Arizona is 4-0 ATS in its last 4 trips to New York.
- Arizona is 5-0 ATS in its last 5 October games.
- Arizona is Under in 4-0 in the last 4 meetings in New York.
- Arizona is Over is 4-0 Last 4 in October.
- Giants' games are 6-1 Over in their last 7 overall.
- Giants are 5-1-1 ATS last 7 in Week 4.

Brief analysis: Arizona scored 30 despite losing, while New York's Week 3 victory came in a completely different type of game. The handicap centers on whether Arizona's offensive production travels and whether the Giants can create enough offense to exploit an Arizona defense that just surrendered 36.

Key Injuries: Arizona has no major active injury currently listed, although RB James Conner remains on reserve. New York has significant losses: QB Jaxson Dart is on IR, with Jameis Winston starting, while LB Brian Burns is out for the season and CB Paulson Adebayo is on IR.

New England Patriots at Buffalo Bills

Line: Buffalo -6.5 | Total: 48.5. New England enters this matchup having struggled to protect the football; Drake Maye has eight turnovers through three games. Buffalo committed five turnovers against the Chargers and still won 24-16.

Last game: Buffalo defeated the Chargers 24-16. New England was routed 35-6 at Jacksonville.

2025: Buffalo (-2.5) beat NE on the road 35-31 but lost at home 23-20, giving 7.5.

Trends:

- New England is 5-0 ATS in its last 5 as a road underdog.
- Patriots are 7-1 ATS in their last 8 AFC East games.
- Patriots are 5-0 ATS in their last 5 October games.
- New England is 5-1 ATS in the last 6 meetings with Buffalo.
- The underdog is 5-1 ATS in the last 6 meetings.
- Drake Maye is 8-3 ATS coming off a loss in outdoor games.
- Patriots are 5-0 Under last 5 overall.
- Bills are 10-2-1 Under last 13 in Week 4.

Brief analysis: Buffalo turned the ball over five times last week and Drake Maye has been a turnover machine thus far. Patriots need this game badly or it could be a long season.

Key Injuries: Buf: QB Josh Allen (soreness) is listed as questionable. CB Christian Benford (toe) is ? NE: S Craig Woodson, DE Dre'Mont Jones, DT Christian Barmore (shoulder) are ?

New York Jets at Chicago Bears

Line: Chicago -3 | Total: 43.

Last game: The Jets lost 31-24 at Detroit. Chicago delivered one of Week 3's biggest results, beating Philadelphia 27-7 on Monday night.

2025: They did not meet during the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Jets games are 8-1 Over in their last 9 Week 4 games.
- Jets games are 5-1 Over in their last 6 overall.
- Jets are 5-0 Over in their last 5 games on grass.
- Jets are 1-6-1 ATS last 8 overall.
- Jets are 1-5 ATS last 6 after a SU loss.
- Chicago is 5-1 Under in its last 6 as a home favorite.
- Chicago is 6-1 Under in its last 7 home games.
- Chicago is 4-1 ATS last 5 overall.

Brief analysis: New York has turned the ball over only once through three games, while veteran Geno Smith has been efficient in the short passing game. Chicago's quarterback situation remains worth following after Caleb Williams' injury. The Bears also have the shorter turnaround after Monday Night Football. Case Keenum was outstanding on Monday night, with Williams out and Tyson Bagent coming off a concussion.

Key Injuries: Jets RB Breece Hall (thigh), WR Adonai Mitchell, S Minkah Fitzpatrick (groin) are ? Bears QB Caleb Williams is out with a Grade 2 hamstring strain. OT Braxton Jones (knee) is ?

Dallas Cowboys at Houston Texans

Line: Houston -2.5 | Total: 47.5.

Last game: Dallas lost a 34-31 game to Baltimore. Houston fell at Indianapolis 19-17.

2025: Dallas and Houston did not meet during the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Dallas is 4-0-1 ATS in its last 5 Week 4 games.
- The road team is 5-0 ATS in the last 5 meetings.
- Houston is 5-1 ATS in its last 6 as an underdog-though the Texans are currently favored.
- Dallas games are 7-0 Over in its last 7 road games.
- Dallas games are 6-0 Over in its last 6 October games.
- Dallas is 14-6 ATS last 20 in October.
- Under is 13-4 in Dak Prescott's indoor road starts.

Brief analysis: This is a fascinating Texas matchup because Houston's 1-2 record and Dallas' recent defensive problems pull in opposite directions. Dallas has surrendered 37 and 34 points in consecutive weeks, while Houston's offense has yet to establish the same scoring ceiling.

Key Injuries: Dallas' secondary is depleted: S Jalen Thompson (hamstring) and CB Cobie Durant (hamstring) are out; S Malik Hooker (fractured forearm) and LB DeMarion Overshown (hamstring) remain uncertain. Houston WR Nico Collins (hamstring) has a chance to return after missing the Colts game.

Los Angeles Rams at Philadelphia Eagles

Line: Rams -3 | Total: 44.5.

Last game: Los Angeles lost 30-26 at Denver after entering as the favorite. Philadelphia suffered a much more decisive setback, losing 27-7 at Chicago on Monday night.

2025: Philly (-3.5) beat the LA Rams 33-26 last season.

Trends:

- Philadelphia is 6-0 ATS in its last 6 as an underdog.
- Philadelphia is 0-5 ATS last 5 overall.
- Rams are 10-2 ATS last 12 after an ATS loss.
- Rams are 9-1 ATS last 10 after a SU loss.
- Over is 5-0 in Philadelphia's last 5 Week 4 games.
- Over is 4-0 in Philadelphia's last 4 as a home underdog.

- Over is 8-1 in the Rams' last 9 overall.

- Over is 8-1 in the last 9 Rams-Eagles meetings.
- Over is 4-0 in the last 4 meetings in Philadelphia

Brief analysis: This is exactly the type of early-season matchup where ATS handicappers need to avoid overreacting to one result. Philadelphia comes home on a short week after its poor Monday performance, while Los Angeles has to rebound from a game it let get away in Denver.

Key injuries: Rams' WR Puka Nacua (hip) and TE Colby Parkins (AC joint sprain) are ? TE Terrance Ferguson is doubtful. Philly WR Hollywood Brown is ? WR Dallas Goedert is doubtful.

Green Bay Packers at Tampa Bay Buccaneers

Line: Green Bay roughly -3.5 | Total: 39.5.

Last game: Green Bay was stunned 35-14 at home by Atlanta. Tampa Bay lost 23-16 to Minnesota.

2025: but Green Bay and Tampa Bay did not meet in the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Green Bay is 4-0 Over last 4 in Week 4.
- Underdog is 4-0 ATS last 4 in series.
- Over is 4-0 in Green Bay's last 4 games in October.
- Over is 7-1 last 8 as a road fave.
- Green Bay is 4-0 Under last 4 after an ATS loss.
- Green Bay is 7-1 Over last 8 as a road fave.

Brief analysis: Both clubs enter off disappointing losses, so the question is which result deserves the larger adjustment. Green Bay's offensive line and ability to protect the quarterback become especially important on the road. Jalen Daniels takes over for Baker Mayfield at QB.

Key injuries: TBay QB Baker Mayfield (thumb) is out at least three weeks. GBay: DT Anthony Campbell, DT Warren Brinson and G Aaron Banks are > WR Jayden Reed (neck) is out indef. DE Micah Parsons (knee) is out 2-3 more weeks.

Tennessee Titans at Baltimore Ravens

Line: Baltimore -11.5 | Total: 43.5.

Last game: Baltimore won 34-31 at Dallas. Tennessee managed only seven points in a 12-7 loss to the Giants.

2025: They did not meet in the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- The road team is 5-0-1 ATS in the last 6 meetings.
- Under is 6-1-1 in the last 8 meetings in Baltimore.
- Tennessee is 4-0 Over in its last 4 road games.
- Tennessee is 4-0 Over in its last 4 as a road underdog.
- Tennessee is 4-1 Over last 5 overall.
- Baltimore is 5-1 Over in its last 6 overall.

Brief analysis: Tennessee's offensive limitations explain much of the double-digit number. Baltimore's ability to establish the run could make this particularly difficult if Tennessee falls behind and is forced into obvious passing situations.

Key Injuries: Tenn: G Fernando Carmona (ankle) and G Jackson Slater (foot) are on the IR. Bal: OT Ronnie Stanley (toe) is ? C Ethan Pocic (knee) and C Jovaughn Gwyn (ankle) are expected to miss significant time.

Jacksonville Jaguars at Cincinnati Bengals

Line: Cincinnati -2.5 | Total: 51.

Last game: Jacksonville overwhelmed New England 35-6. Cincinnati lost a tight 30-27 game at Pittsburgh.

2025: These teams did not meet in the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Over is 5-0 in Cincinnati's last 5 games in October
- Under is 4-1 in Cincinnati's last 5 home games.
- Under is 5-1 in Cincinnati's last 6 games as a dog.
- Jax is 8-2 ATS last 10 games.
- Jax is 7-1 ATS last 8 as a favorite.

Brief analysis: Jacksonville enters with momentum after perhaps its most complete performance of the young season. Cincinnati is returning home after a divisional loss. The high total indicates the market expects offensive production from both sides.

Key injuries: Jax: DE BJ Green II (elbow) is on the IR. DT Albert Regis is ? Cincy: DT B.J. Hill is ? CB Jalen Davis (hamstring) was placed on the IR.

NFL TRENDS, ODDS, INJURIES & WEATHER - WEEK 4 (CONTINUED)

Sunday - 4:05 ET

Miami Dolphins at Minnesota Vikings

Line: Minnesota -11.5 | Total: 38.5

Last game: Minnesota won 20-16 at Tampa Bay. Miami lost 24-10 at home to Kansas City.

2025: They did not meet in the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Minnesota is 7-0-1 ATS in its last 5 overall.
- Under is 5-0 in Minnesota's last 5 home games.
- Minnesota is 5-0 Under after a SU win.
- Under is 4-0 in Minnesota's last 4 as a favorite.
- Under is 8-1 in Minnesota's last 9 overall.
- Miami is 5-0-2 Over in its last 7 road games.
- Miami is 4-0-2 Over in its last 6 as a road underdog.
- Miami is 0-4 ATS last 4 overall.
- Miami is 1-6 ATS last 7 overall.

Brief analysis: Miami has averaged only about 12 points per game through three weeks, making its offense the central handicap. Minnesota's pressure packages could be particularly problematic if Miami is forced into long-yardage passing situations.

Key Injuries: Mia: RB De'Von Arnette (knee) is out for the year. RB Jaylen Wright (stinger/foot) is questionable. Minn: WR Justin Jefferson (ankle) is questionable.

Sunday - 4:25 ET

Kansas City Chiefs at Las Vegas Raiders

Line: Kansas City -4.5 | Total: 48.

Last game: Kansas City improved to 3-0 with a 24-10 victory at Miami. Las Vegas also remained unbeaten by winning 35-27 at New Orleans.

2025: Las Vegas defeated Kansas City 14-12 at home, although Patrick Mahomes did not play. The Chiefs shut out the Raiders at home 31-0 in the first meeting.

Trends:

- Kansas City is 5-1 ATS in its last 6 Week 4 games.
- The underdog is 4-1 ATS in the last 5 meetings.
- Under is 4-1 in the last 5 meetings.
- Under is 4-1 in Kansas City's last 5 road games.
- Under is 4-1 in Kansas City's last 5 as a road favorite.
- Las Vegas is 4-1 Over in its last 5 as a home underdog.
- Las Vegas is 5-0 ATS last 5 vs. AFC.
- Las Vegas is 4-0 ATS last 4 overall.
- Under is 5-1 in Raiders' last 6 as a favorite.
- Kansas City is 16-4-1 ATS in its last 21 as a road underdog, although KC is favored Sunday.

Brief analysis: Las Vegas has forced nine turnovers, while Kansas City's Kenneth Walker III leads the NFL with 360 rushing yards through three games.

Key Injuries: LVR: QB Aidan O'Connell and S Treydan Stukes are questionable. KC: OT Josh Simmons is questionable.

Los Angeles Chargers at Seattle Seahawks

Line: Seattle -7 | Total: 43.5.

Last game: Los Angeles fell to 0-3 with a 24-16 loss at Buffalo. Seattle lost a 33-31 heartbreaker at Washington.

2025: They did not meet in the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- The underdog is 7-0 ATS in the last 7 meetings.
- Seattle is 5-0 ATS in its last 5 overall.
- Seattle is 5-0 ATS in its last 5 as a favorite.
- Seattle is 6-1 ATS in its last 7 Week 4 games.
- LA Chargers games are 4-1 Under in their last 5 overall.
- LA Chargers games are 4-1 Under in their last 5 road games.
- LA Chargers games are 6-0 Under last 6 overall.
- LA Chargers games are 5-0 Under last 5 after a SU loss.

Brief analysis: This is a classic buy-low/sell-high decision. Seattle is laying a full touchdown despite losing last week, while Los Angeles is still searching for its first victory.

Key Injuries: Seattle: DT Brandon Pili, S Julian Love and S Ty Okada are questionable. RB Zach Charbonnet (knee) could return to practice shortly but is not expected to play until Oct. 11 at the earliest. LA Chargers: TE Charlie Kolar is doubtful. WR Brennen Thompson, DT Dalvin Tomlinson, and CB Elijah Molden are questionable.

Denver Broncos at San Francisco 49ers

Line: San Francisco -3 | Total: 46.5.

Last game: Denver upset the Rams 30-26. San Francisco survived Arizona 36-30.

2025: They did not meet during the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Denver is 5-0 ATS in its last 5 as an underdog.
- San Francisco is 6-0-1 ATS in its last 7 as a favorite.
- San Francisco is 6-2-1 ATS in its last 9 overall.
- San Francisco is 5-1-1 ATS in its last 7 on grass.
- San Francisco is 5-0 Over as a favorite.
- The home team is 4-0 ATS in the last 4 meetings.
- Under is 6-1 in Denver's last 7 as an underdog.
- Under is 5-0 in Denver's last 4 as a road underdog.

Brief analysis: Injuries are especially important here after San Francisco came out of the Arizona game banged up. Denver has also faced a demanding early schedule.

Sunday Night Football

Detroit Lions at Carolina Panthers

Line: Detroit -3.5 | Total: 50.5.

Last game: Detroit beat the Jets 31-24. Carolina lost 21-18 at Cleveland.

2025: They did not meet during the 2025 regular season.

Trends:

- Carolina is 11-2 ATS in its last 13 as a home underdog.
- Carolina is 4-1 ATS in its last 5 games on grass.
- The home team is 4-0 ATS in the last 4 meetings.
- The underdog is 4-1 ATS in the last 5 meetings.
- Detroit is 13-4 ATS as a road favorite under Dan Campbell.
- Detroit is 3-0 ATS this season.
- Detroit is 6-1 Over in its last 7 as a favorite.
- Carolina is 4-1 Under in its last 5 overall.

Brief analysis: This has one of the week's highest totals. Bryce Young is averaging 313 passing yards per game, while Detroit's Jahmyr Gibbs has been one of the NFL's most explosive runners.

Key Injuries: Detroit G Ben Barch is questionable. C Cade Mays (wrist) is on IR. Carolina WR Jalen Coker (quad), CB Mike Jackson (groin), LB Devin Lloyd (ca#), S Nick Scott and WR Xavier Legette are questionable. OG Damien Lewis is doubtful. CB Jaycee Horn (torn quad) is out 6-12 weeks.

Monday Night Football - October 5

Atlanta Falcons at New Orleans Saints

Line: New Orleans -2.5 | Total: 48.5.

Last game: Atlanta produced one of Week 3's biggest surprises, dominating Green Bay 35-14 at Lambeau Field on Thursday. New Orleans lost 35-27 at home to Las Vegas.

2025: Atlanta swept the series last season, winning at home 19-17 and on the road 24-10.

Trends:

- New Orleans is 6-0 ATS in its last 6 overall.
- Atlanta is 5-0 ATS in its last 5 as a road underdog.
- The underdog is 4-0 ATS in the last 4 meetings.
- Under is 5-0 in New Orleans' last 5 October games.
- Under is 8-1 in New Orleans' last 9 NFC games.
- Under is 4-0 in New Orleans' last 4 as a home favorite.

Brief analysis: Atlanta's Green Bay performance will naturally attract attention, which makes the market reaction important. New Orleans returns home after allowing 35 to Las Vegas, while Atlanta now has to prove that its Week 3 performance was sustainable rather than a one-week spike.

WHY HOCKEY IS AN UNDERRATED SPORT TO MAKE MONEY ON

YOU DON'T HAVE TO WATCH HOCKEY TO BET HOCKEY.

Hockey doesn't get the mainstream attention of the NFL or college football, which creates value for informed bettors. With the right information, strong analysis and a disciplined approach, hockey can be one of the most profitable sports to bet all season long - and you don't need to watch a single game!

THE BEST METHODS TO BET HOCKEY

OUR PROVEN APPROACH FOCUSES ON WHAT REALLY MATTERS:

1 GOALTENDING

The starting goalie can make or break a game. We analyze projected starters, recent performance, workload, rest and matchups to find value.

2 LOOK BEYOND WINS & LOSSES

Dig deeper than the record. We use shot volume, expected goals, high-danger chances, special teams and possession to identify teams that may be mispriced.

3 MONEYLINES - FIND VALUE

Don't just pick who will win. We look for numbers that offer value, not overpriced favorites. A team can be strong and still be a poor bet at the wrong price.

4 PUCK LINES

Use the -1.5/+1.5 when the matchup supports it. Lay -1.5 with elite teams or take +1.5 in close, low-scoring games. Always base it on the game script, not just a better price.

5 TOTALS

Evaluate both goaltenders, offensive and defensive form, special teams and pace. We identify the right side of the total based on how the game should actually be played.

6 FIRST-PERIOD BETTING

Some teams start fast. Others take time to get going. First-period moneylines and totals can provide great value before fatigue and late-game situations come into play.

7 TEAM TOTALS

Bet one team's offense instead of the entire game. Strong offenses vs. weak goalies or poor penalty killing often create excellent team total opportunities.

8 SPECIAL TEAMS

Power plays and penalty killing matter. We target teams with strong special teams facing vulnerable units.

9 SCHEDULING & TRAVEL

Back-to-backs, three games in four nights, long road trips and rest advantages can create major edges, especially with backup goaltenders.

10 SHOP FOR THE BEST PRICE

Lines vary between sportsbooks. A few cents can make a big difference over a season. We monitor line movement and look for the best number.

ATS WEEKLY GAMING REVIEW - VOL. 6

PAGE 7

BETTING ARTICLE: DON'T CHASE LAST WEEK'S WINNERS

DON'T CHASE LAST WEEK'S WINNERS - CHASE THIS WEEK'S VALUE

One of the biggest mistakes a bettor can make in football is assuming that what happened last week will happen again this week. By Week 5 in college football and Week 4 in the NFL, the public has seen enough football to start forming strong opinions. Teams that looked dominant suddenly become popular favorites. Teams that were embarrassed get written off. Quarterbacks who threw four touchdowns get upgraded quickly. Defenses that gave up 35 points are treated as if they are permanently broken. That is exactly when value can start disappearing. The goal in handicapping is not to identify which team looked best last Saturday or Sunday. The goal is to determine whether this week's point spread accurately reflects what should happen in the next game.

The Market Adjusts Quickly

Sportsbooks know what everyone just watched. If a team wins by 30 points in a nationally televised game, the next line is rarely posted as if nothing happened. The market adjusts. That adjustment may be justified-but sometimes it goes too far. Suppose a college team was -7 last week and won 42-10. If that performance causes the same team to be priced several points higher than your power ratings would normally justify the following week, you may actually be getting more value on the opponent.

Final Scores Can Be Deceptive

A 35-14 victory does not always mean one team dominated from start to finish. The score may have been influenced by: - Defensive touchdowns - Short fields following turnovers - Special-teams scores - Missed field goals - Fourth-down failures - Garbage-time touchdowns - Red-zone variance - A quarterback leaving early with an injury - That is why serious handicappers should go beyond the scoreboard. Look at: - Yards per play - Rushing efficiency - Sack rate - Pressure rate - Explosive plays - Third-down opportunities - Red-zone trips - Turnovers - Time and score situation How long the starters actually played A team can win by three touchdowns and still play worse than the final score suggests. Another team can lose by 10 while actually winning the yardage and efficiency battle. Those are often the situations where the following week's betting value develops.

Don't Automatically Downgrade Last Week's Loser

The opposite mistake is just as common. A team gets embarrassed, bettors want nothing to do with it, and the market moves against it. Sometimes that reaction is correct. If the offensive line was overwhelmed, the quarterback looked incapable of handling pressure and the defense could not generate any resistance, those may be structural problems. But other poor performances are much more correctable. There is a major difference between losing because of: - Four turnovers - A blocked punt - Missed kicks - Dropped passes - A tipped interception - A handful of explosive plays - and losing because you were physically dominated on nearly every snap. - The first group can produce a good buy-low opportunity. - The second may represent a real downgrade. -

College Football: Be Careful With Blowout Winners

This becomes especially important in college football.

College teams can produce enormous margins against inferior competition. A 52-7 final score catches everyone's attention, but handicappers have to ask whether that performance tells us anything useful about how the team will perform against a much better conference opponent. A ranked favorite might have spent two weeks facing weak competition and suddenly be asked to lay 17 points on the road in a conference game. That is an entirely different assignment. Conference play changes the handicap because: - Opponents are more familiar with personnel and schemes - Coaching staffs often have years of film on each other - Rivalry intensity can reduce talent gaps - Road environments become more difficult - Depth advantages can matter less in shorter-possession games - A large favorite may be satisfied simply controlling the game rather than running up the score - That doesn't mean blindly betting conference underdogs. It means requiring the favorite to justify the inflated price.

NFL: One Great Game Can Distort Perception

In the NFL, the effect can be even stronger because there are fewer games and every result receives enormous attention. - A team that looked awful in Week 1 may suddenly look like a contender after two wins. - A team that started 2-0 can be labeled overrated after one bad Sunday. - Three games are useful-but they are still only three games. At this stage of the season, combine: Preseason evaluation + current performance + injuries + matchup + price rather than discarding everything we believed in August. The key is determining which preseason assumptions were wrong and which teams simply experienced short-term variance.

Pay Attention to How the Win Happened

Not all wins should produce the same power-rating adjustment. A team that wins 28-17 while gaining 450 yards and allowing only 250 probably deserves a meaningful upgrade. A team that wins 28-17 despite being outgained 430-290 because it returned two interceptions for touchdowns probably deserves a much smaller adjustment. Those two games look identical in the standings. They should not look identical in your handicap.

Injuries Can Completely Change the Meaning of Last Week

Last week's result may also have very little relevance if the personnel situation has changed. If a team dominated behind a healthy offensive line but loses its left tackle and center during the week, that previous offensive performance becomes much less useful. The same applies to: - Quarterbacks - Starting cornerbacks - Pass rushers - Running backs - Wide receivers - Interior defensive linemen This is why injury evaluation should come before blindly extending last week's performance into the next game.

The Best Bet May Be No Bet

This is another important part of not chasing winners. You do not have to wager on a team simply because it looked impressive. And you do not have to fade it simply because you believe the line is inflated. Sometimes the market adjusts perfectly. If your number and the sportsbook's number are basically the same, move to the next game. A disciplined handicapper should be comfortable saying: "They may win again. I just don't have value at this price." That sentence can save a lot of money over the course of a season.

The Bottom Line

The scoreboard tells you what happened. The betting line asks you what happens next. Those are two different questions. The most successful approach entering College Football Week 5 and NFL Week 4 is to avoid automatically rewarding last week's winners or punishing last week's losers. - Study how the result happened.

- Decide whether the performance is repeatable. - Adjust for opponent quality, injuries and matchup. - Then compare your number with the market. Don't chase last week's winners. Chase this week's value.
